Still Life

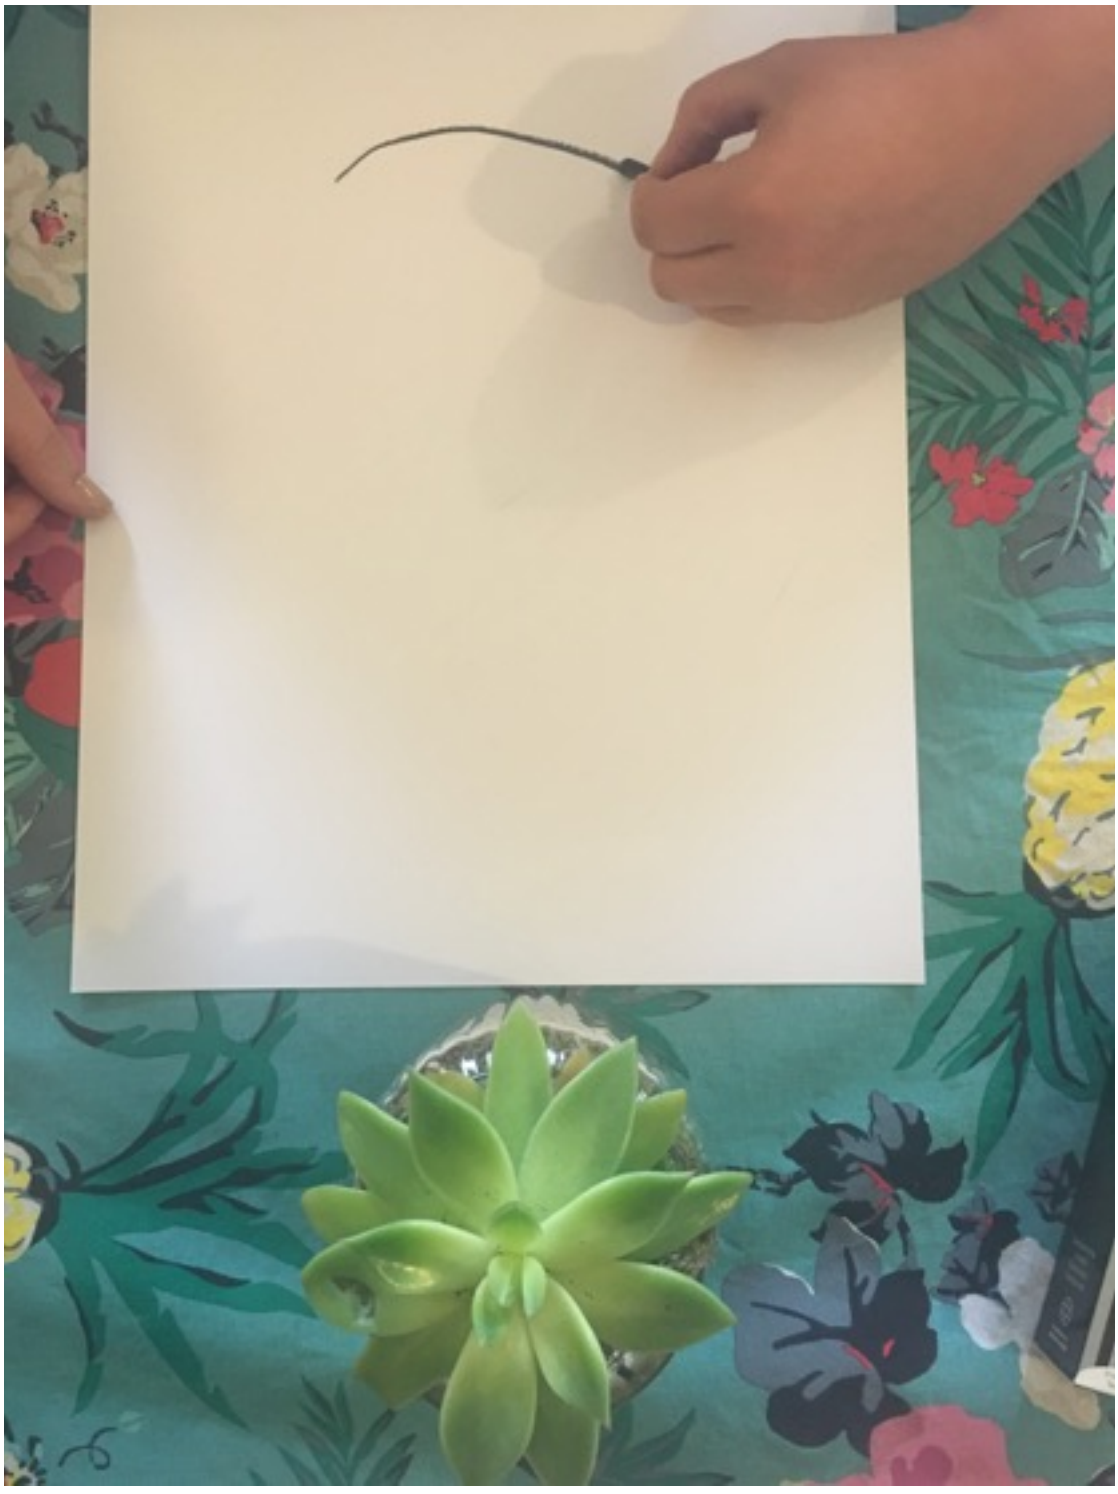

Whilst most of our projects are about using your imagination sometimes it is good to focus on observational drawing to sharpen your skills!

Tools and Materials:

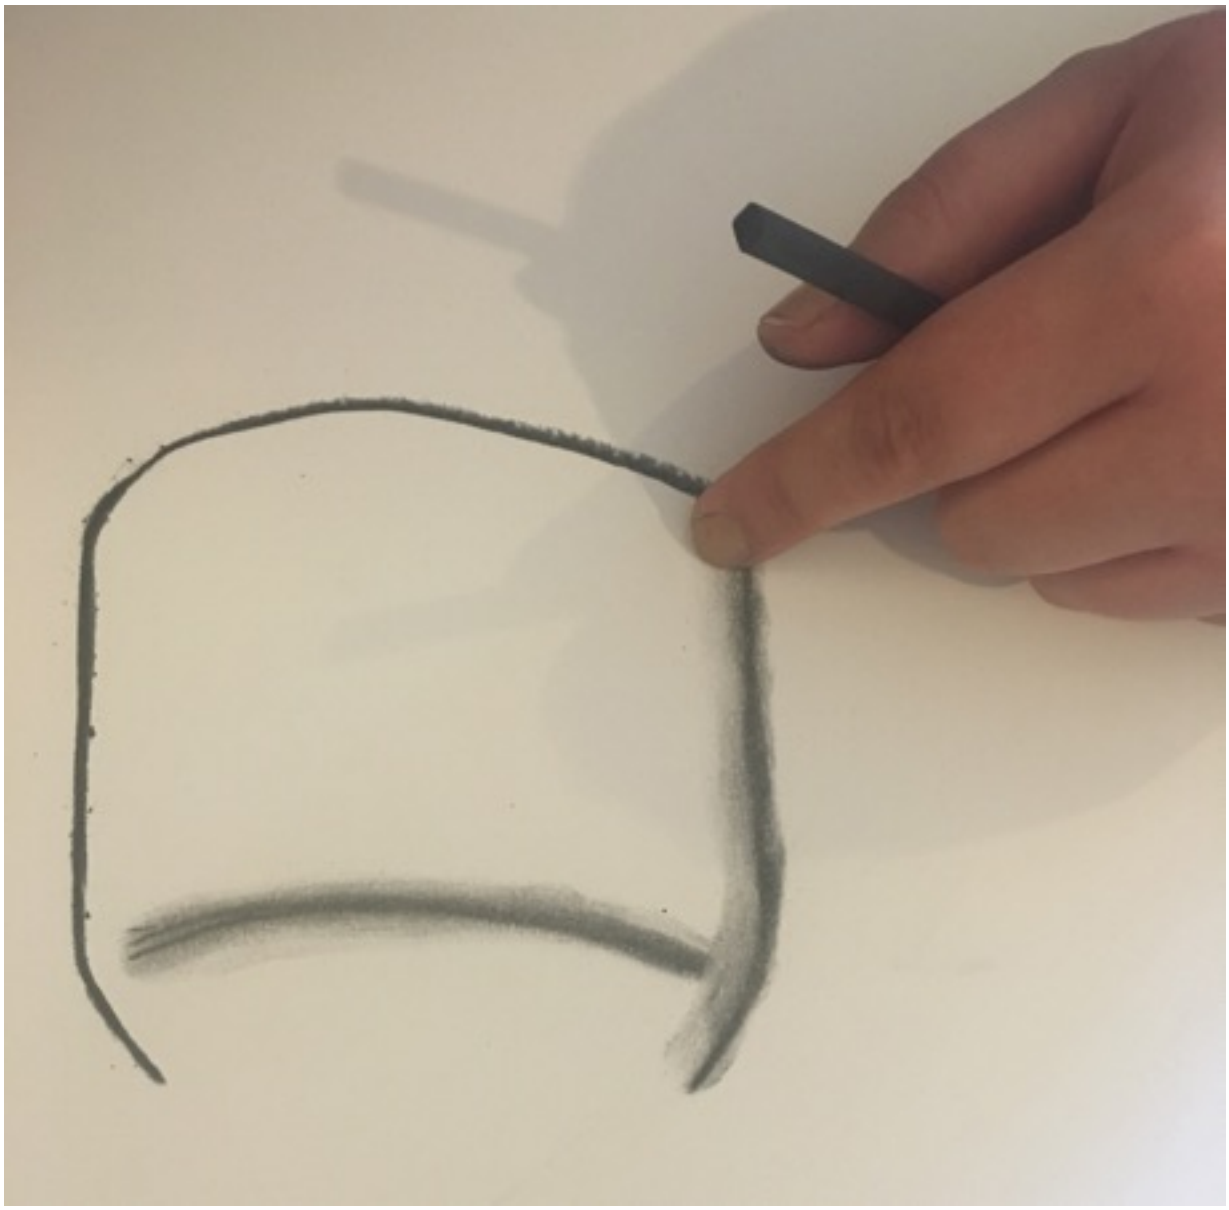

- Paper
- Charcoal (or a pencil is fine too!)
- Plant (or whatever you would like to draw!)

So we chose this plant as it was to hand and it’s an interesting shape so why not! But you can draw whatever you would like, how about your favourite toy? So whenever you start drawing rather than looking at it as an object see what shapes you can see in it, break it down into smaller shapes such as lines or curves which join together to create the overall image

Look at the relationship between lines, when we drew the pot the plant was in the top of the pot has the same curve as the bottom of the pot

The beauty of using a material such as charcoal is you can give your picture depth by blending the charcoal with your finger to create light and dark - play around with it to see how you get on!

And there you have it your own “Still Life”

Here’s another we created to inspire you
