One Colour Tonality

Using only one coloured pencil why not create your own drawing; using different pressures to create different tones of the colour to create different shades

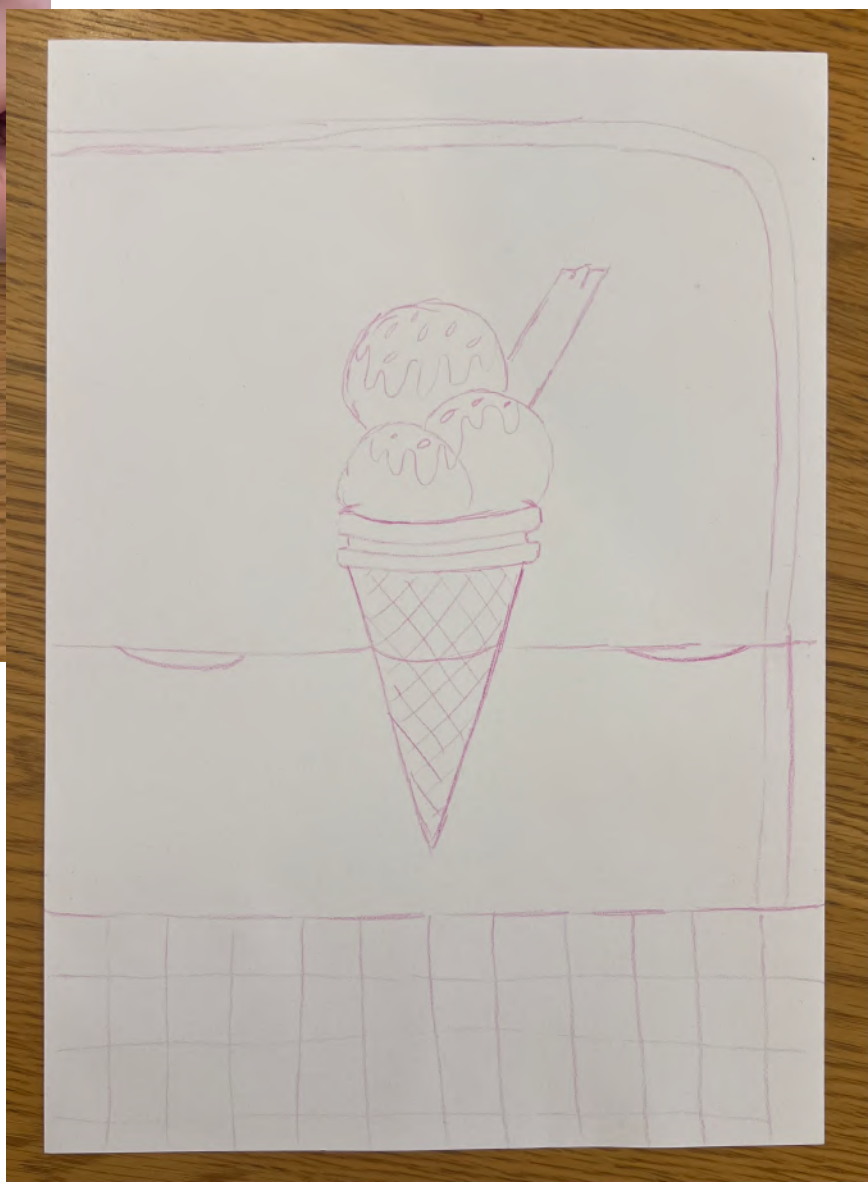

Tools and Materials:

- Paper
- Coloured Pencil

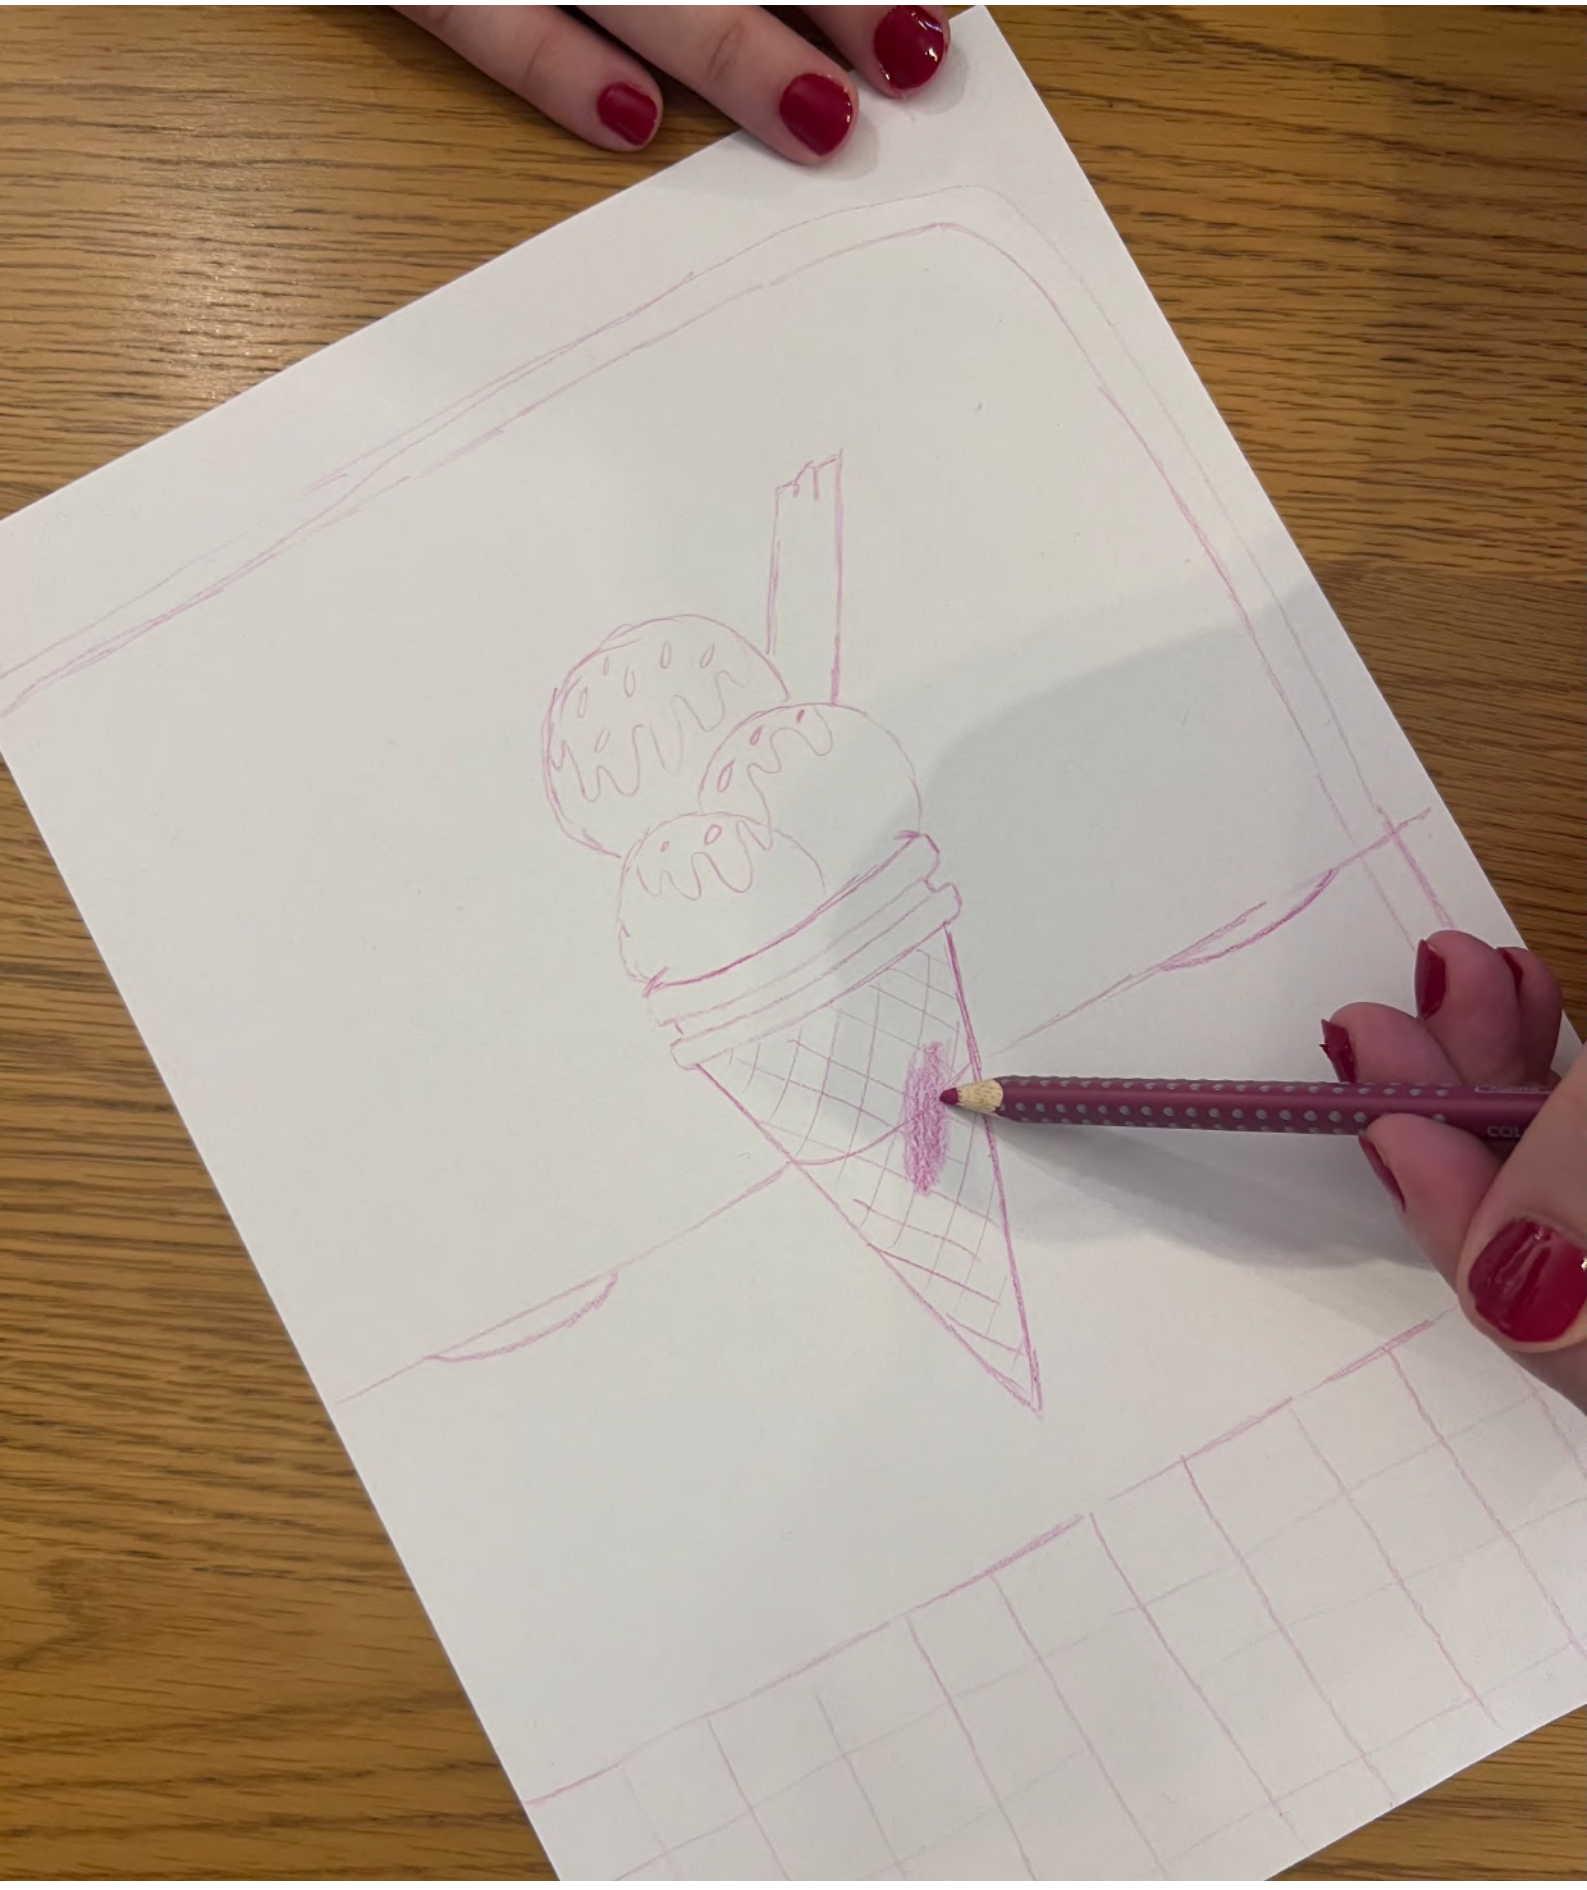

For this you can draw anything - think about something you would like to see, we thought ice cream would be fun! With the colouring pencil or even a standard drawing pencil - if you press lightly it is a light colour if you press hard it is a dark colour. You can mix the pressure to create the shades needed. We started by sketching out the image lightly first to then figure out what you want the image to look like - lights and darks!

Once you are happy with your image you can start colouring it in

There you have it you very own
“One Colour Tonality Drawing”!
