Op Art

Op Art is short for “Optical Art” - drawings that can trick your eyes, for this we will show you how to do a 3D looking hand!

Tools and Materials:

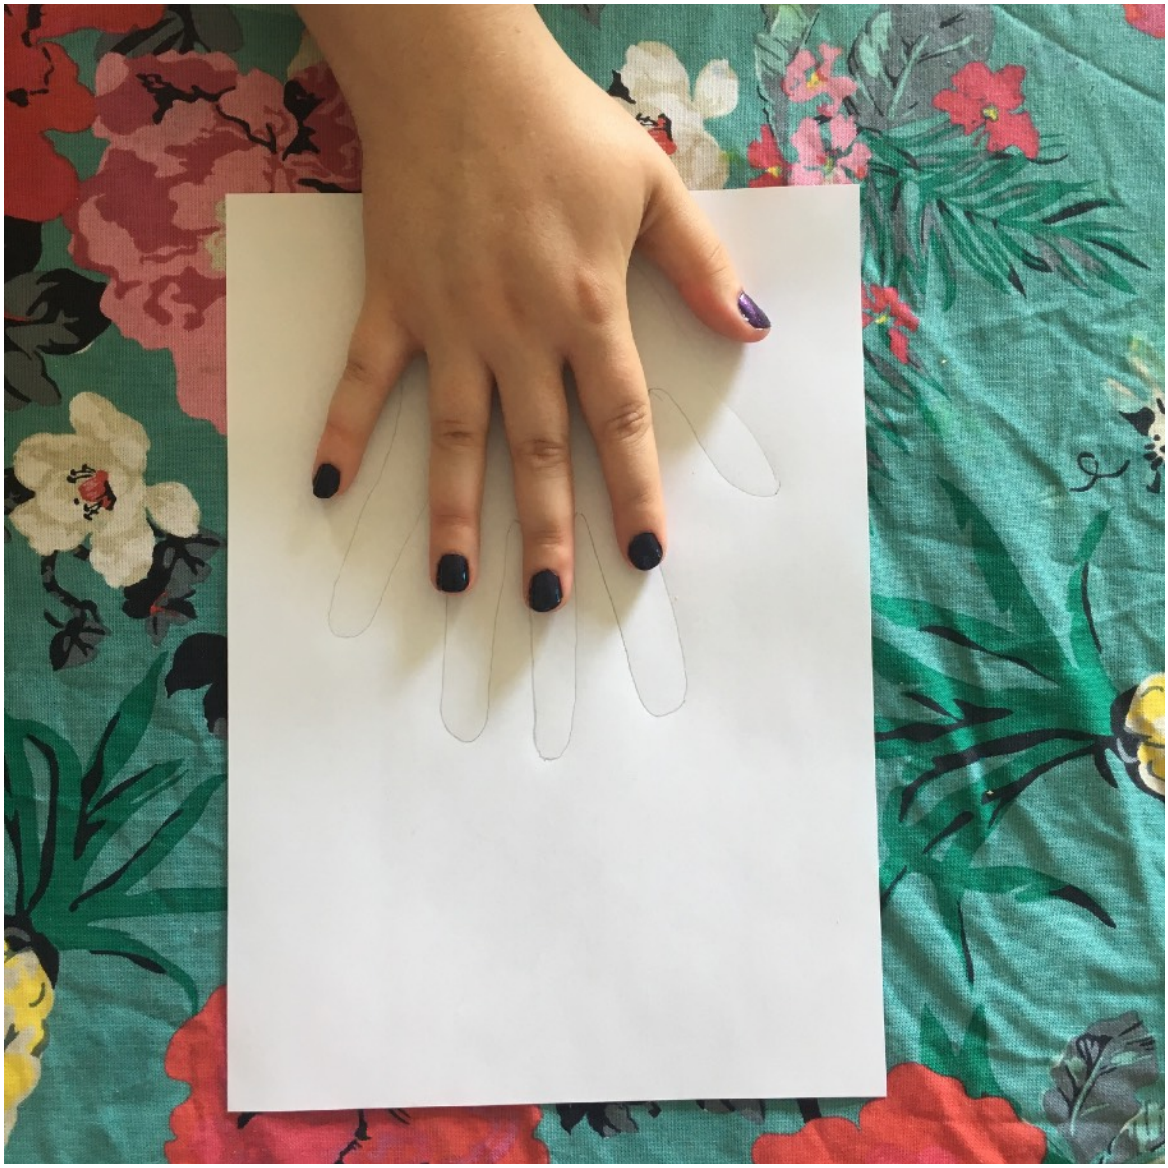

- Paper
- Pencil
- Felt Tips

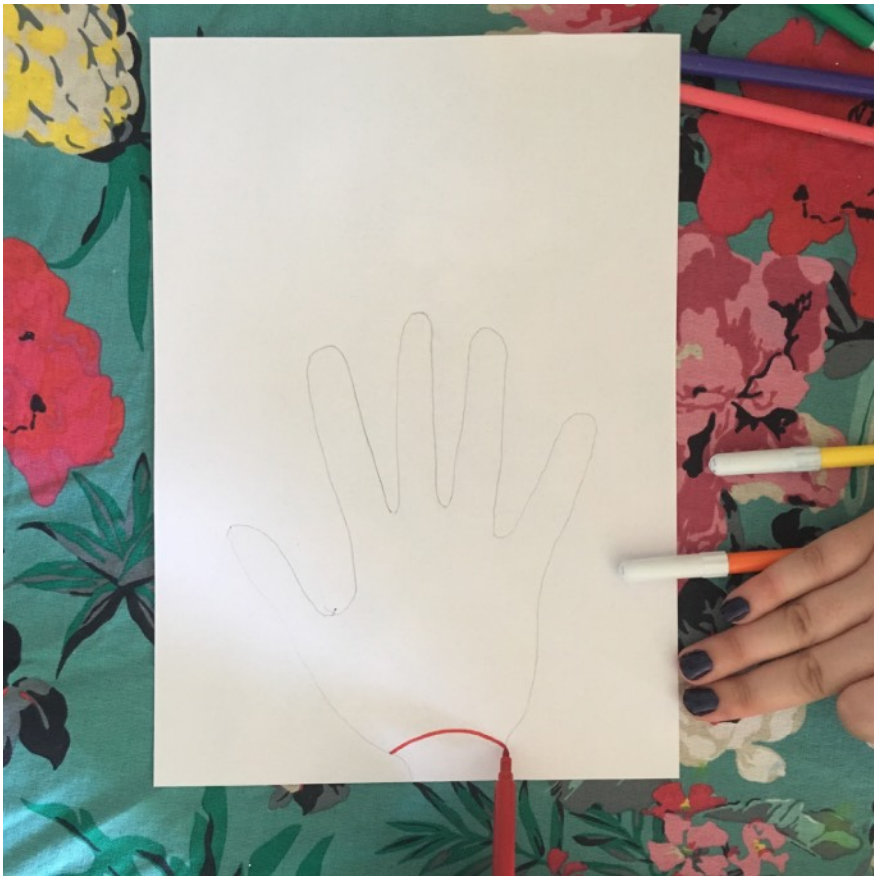

To create this hand artwork first of all we need to draw round our hands to get the silhouette like so

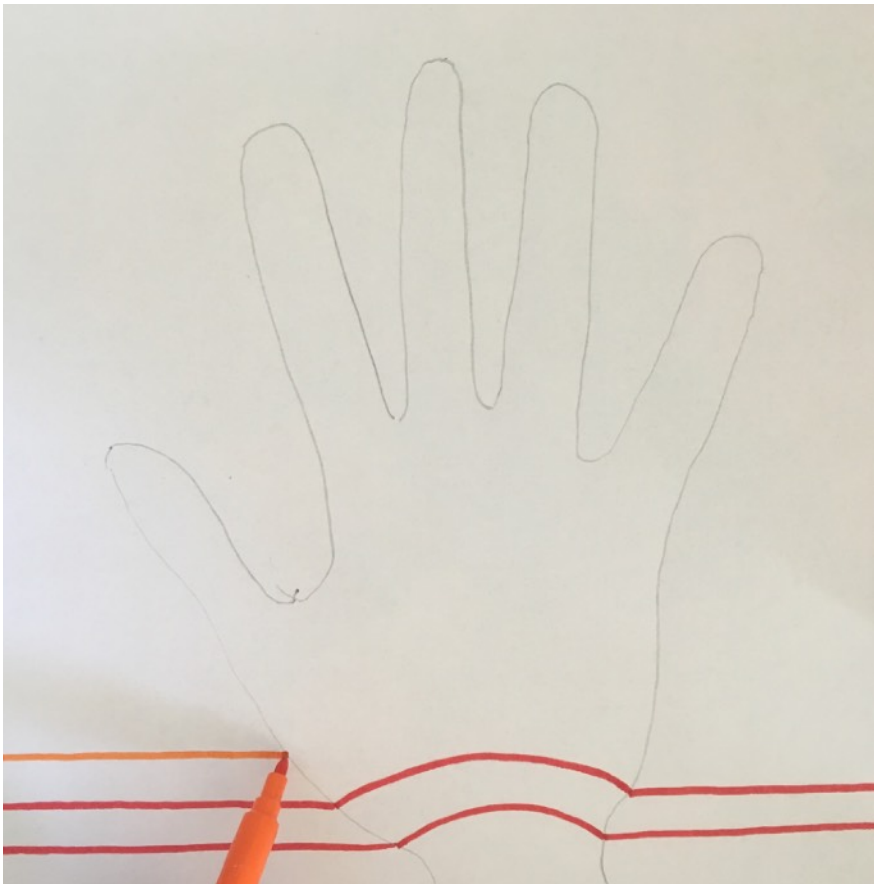

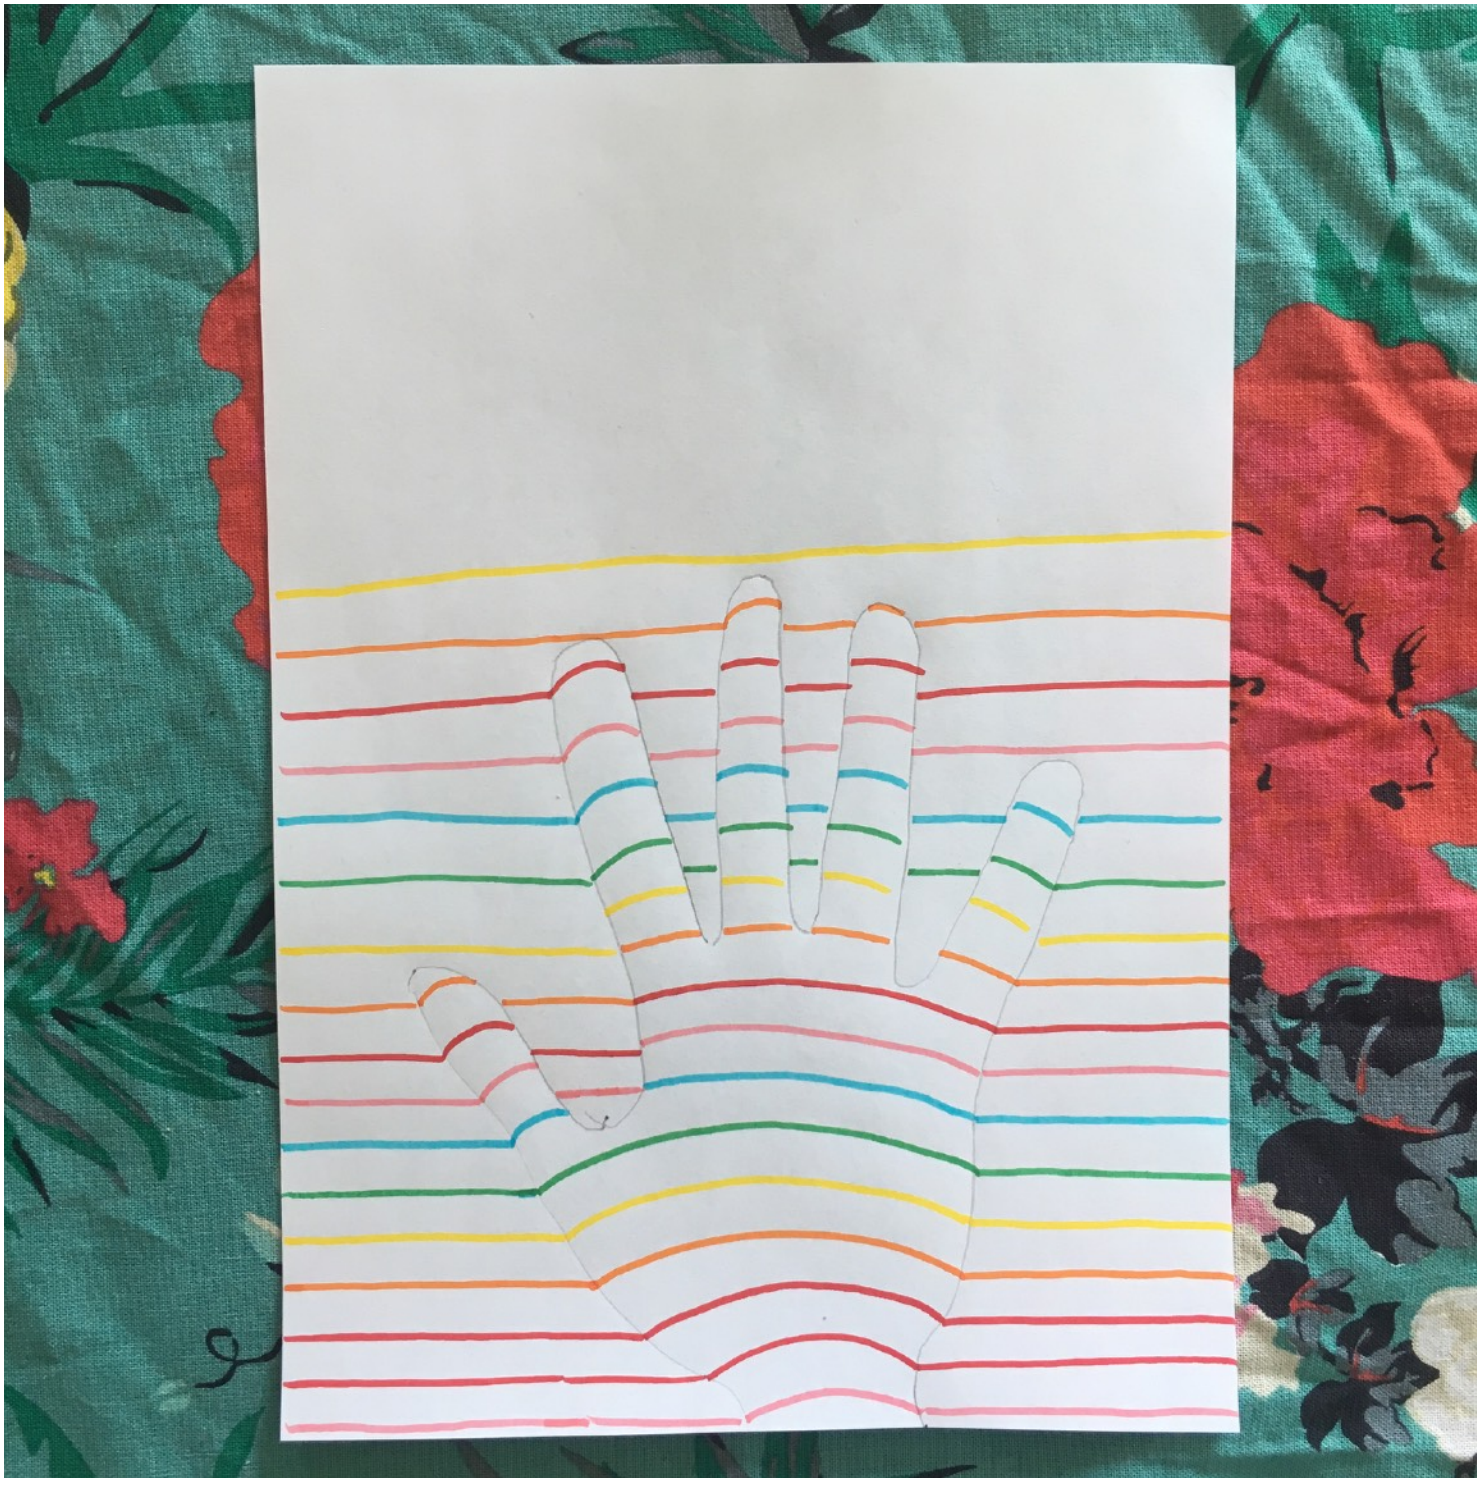

Once you have your outline of your hand done now we can put the stripes of colour in - its important to do them in a curve and only within the lines of the hand! Outside the hand will be straight lines to make the contrast

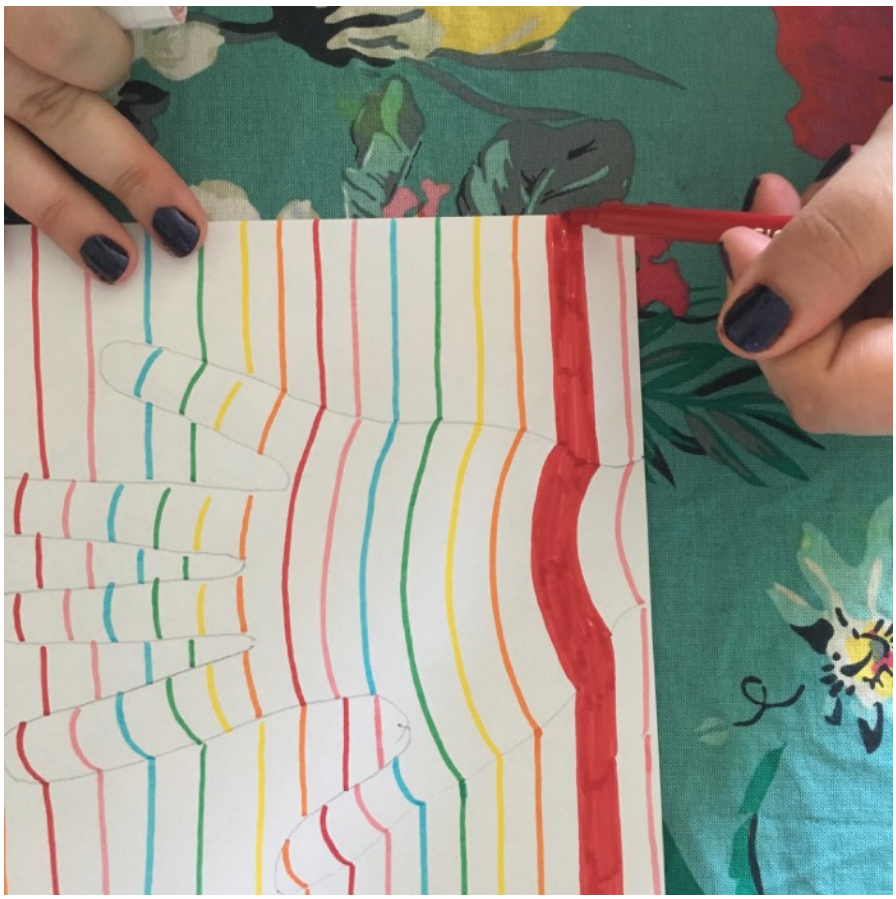

Your drawing should end up looking like this - curves in the hand and straight lines on the outside. Don’t worry too much if you think it looks funny it will make more sense when you colour it in!

Start colouring in between the lines you have drawn to make sure no white is left

When you have finished colouring all the stripes that cover the hand and just above it you can cut or rip off the excess to frame your work in a square

There you have it your own “Op Art” hand inspired Artwork

Here are some more “Op Art” inspired works we created to inspire you - just play around with pattern and see what you can create!
