Pencil Pot Pal

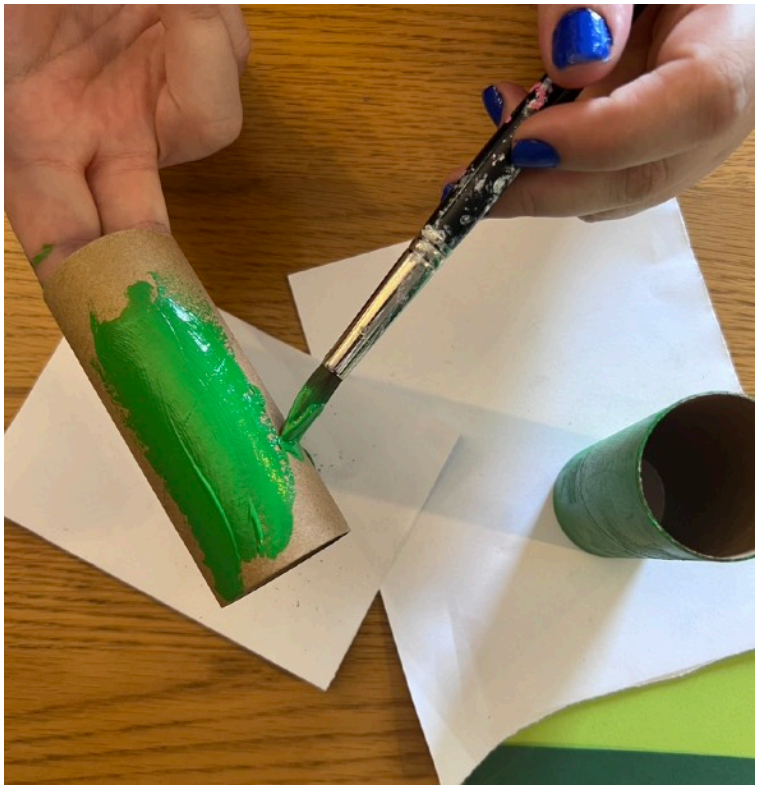

Great for back to school or any time, why not craft your own creature to keep your pencils or pens in!

Tools and Materials:

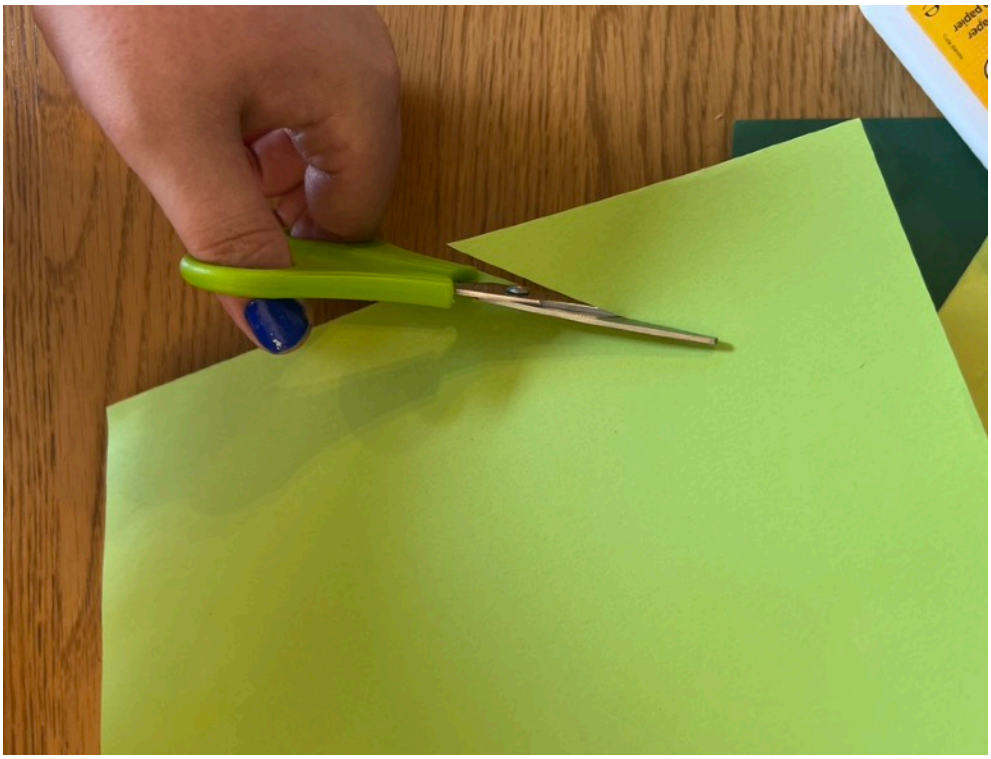

- Coloured Paper
- Paint
- Paintbrush
- Water
- Glue
- Scissors
- Cardboard Tubes (Kitchen or Loo Roll innards)

We used a scrap bit of white paper to put our paint on you could use a paper plate or paint palette if you have one, cover the tubes in the paint to create the legs (and pencil pot aspect)

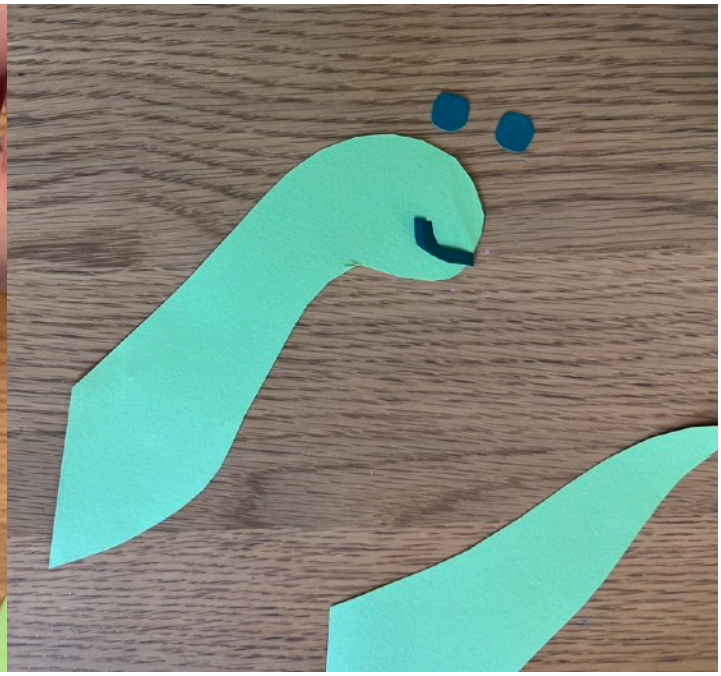

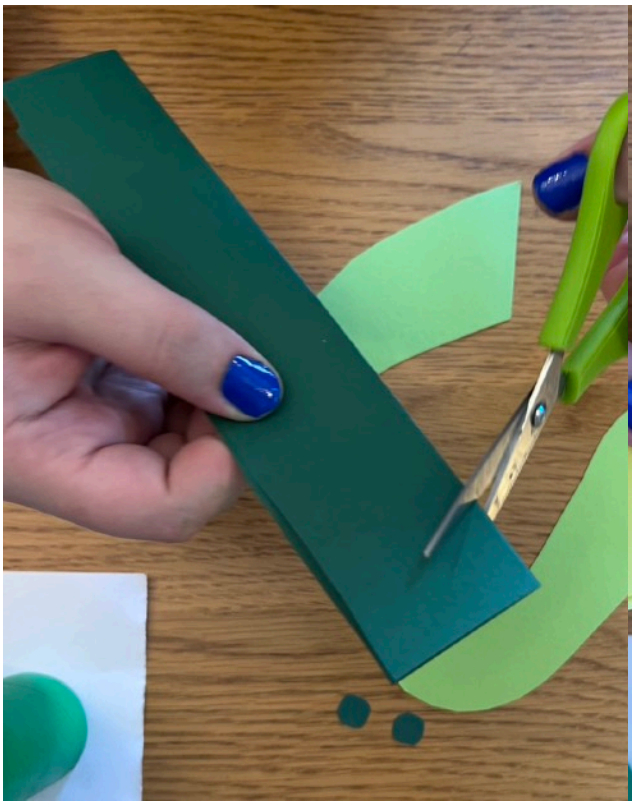

We also need to create a head/neck and tail for our dinosaur, we didn't draw it out just went for it with the scissors you can draw it out if it helps though!

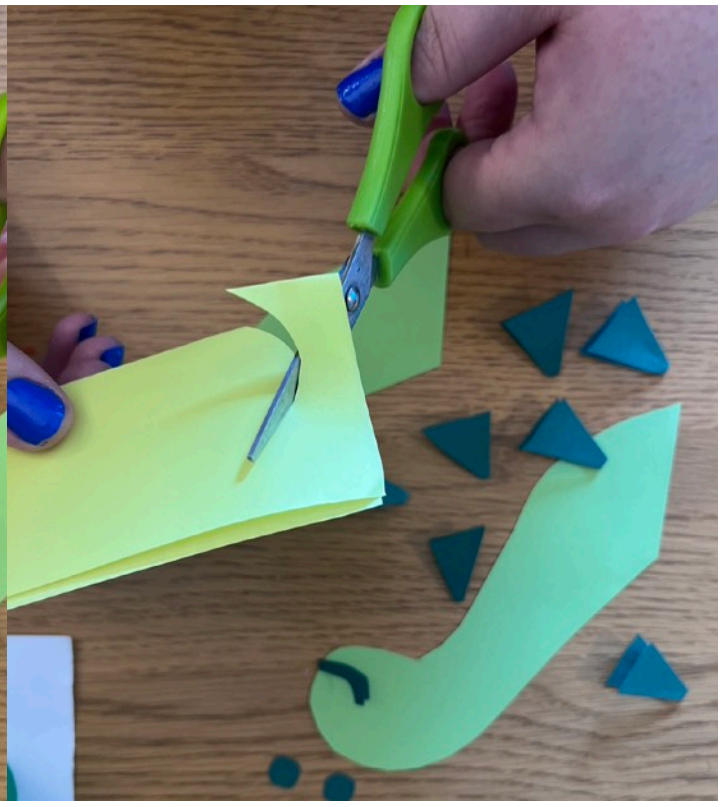

Start cutting out the elements you need to decorate, for our dinosaur we need 2 eyes, some spikes, a smile and some dots for his skin. To create the spikes we folded paper in half so that you can cut out 2 triangles connect at the top to sandwich either side of the neck and tail, same with the smile

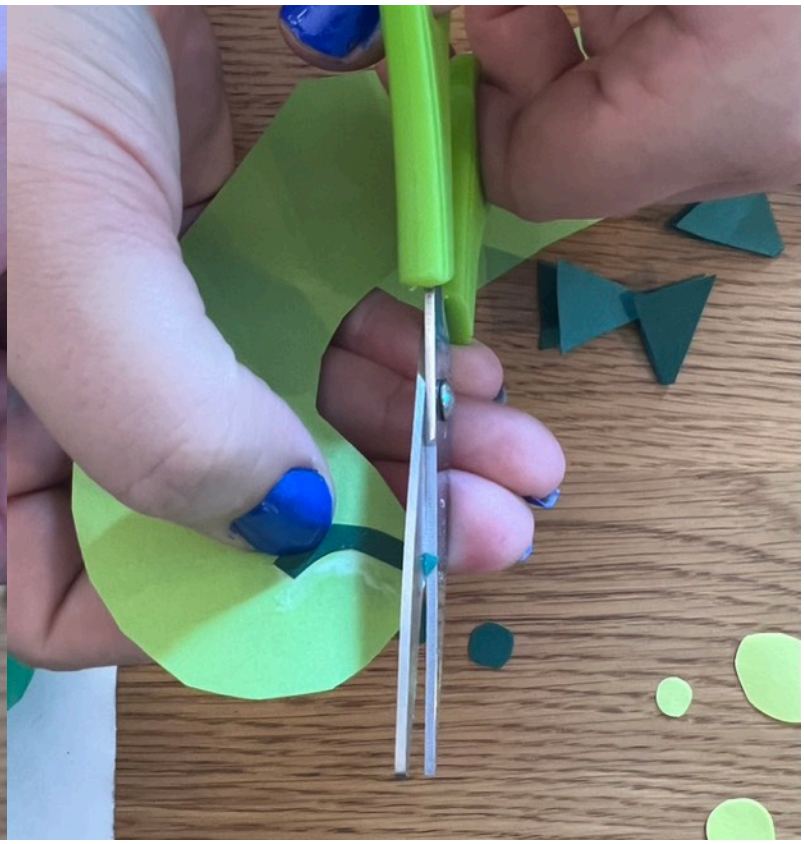

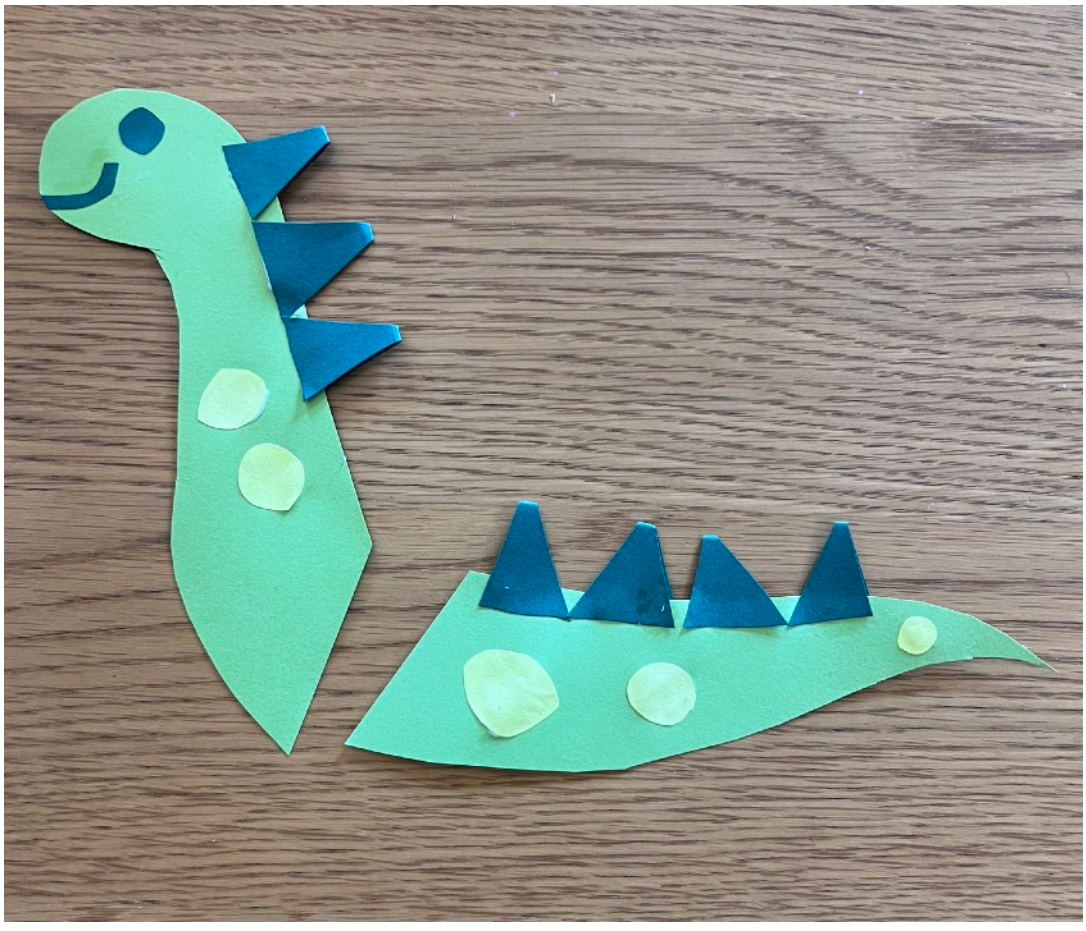

Taking the glue lightly add it on the smile to fold it over the face like so, trim if needed to fit the face more smoothly

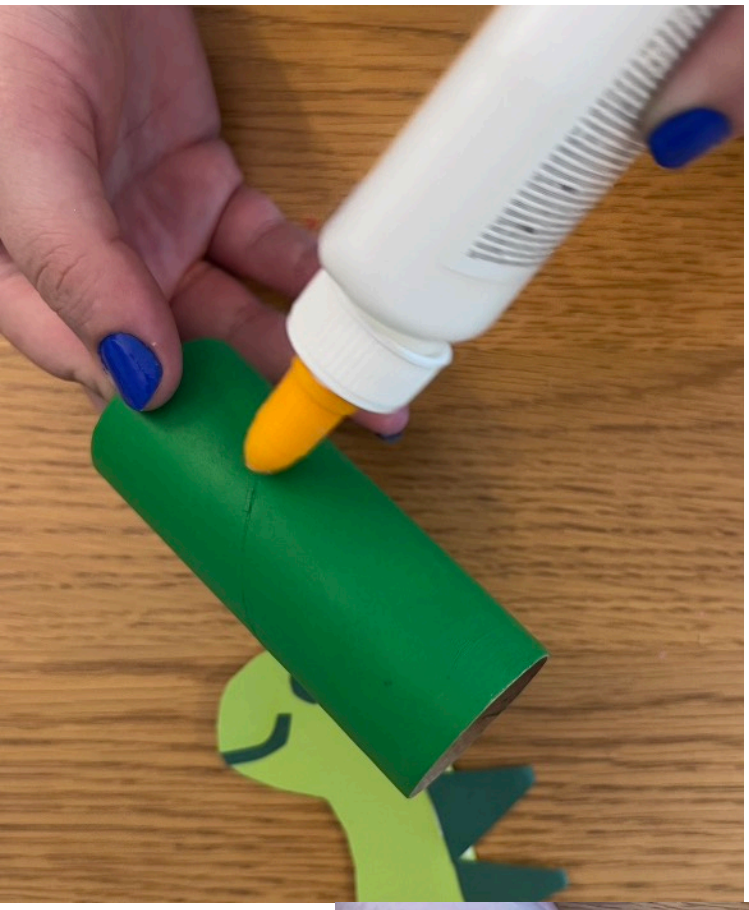

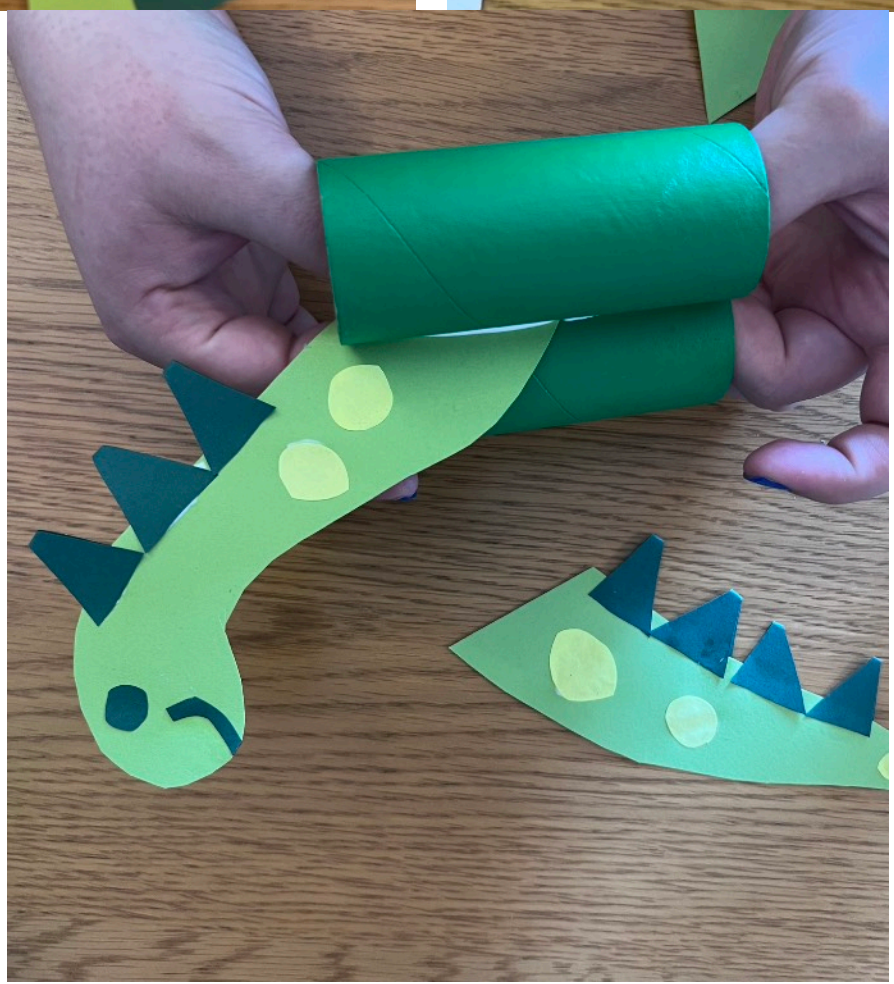

Glue the rest of your decorations on like so

Now to put your pencil pot together, take one of the legs and attach the head like so, once glued on to one tube add more glue and add another tube on top like a sandwich

Repeat for the tail using the other 2 tubes, then put glue on the inside - the side where the tail or neck isn’t coming out

There you have it your very own “Pencil Pot Pal”!
