Valentine's Paper Chain & Card

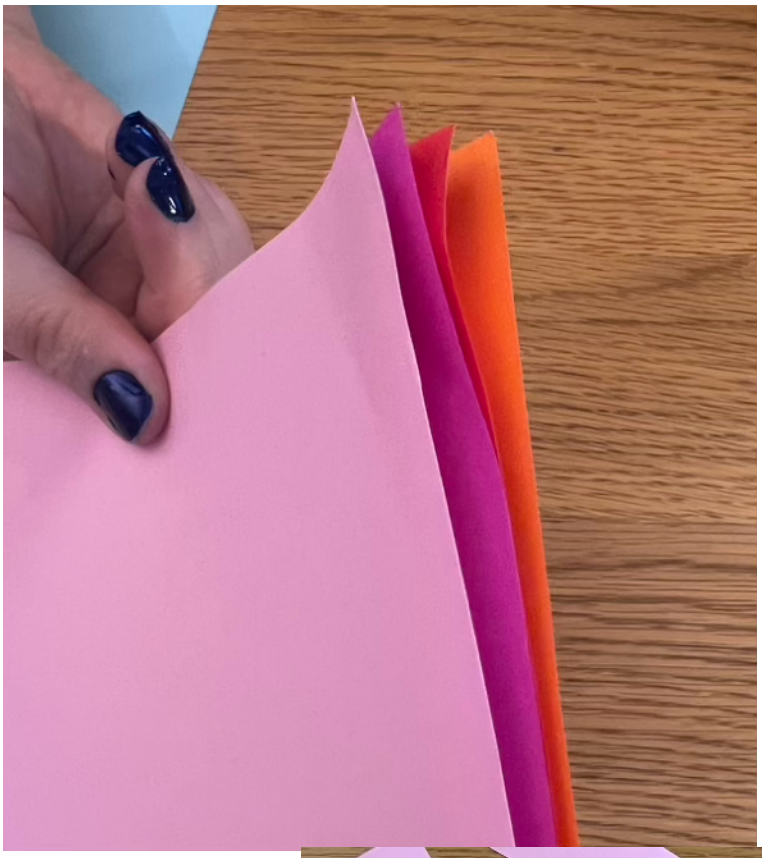

Celebrating Valentine's Day why not create this bright paper chain and heart confetti filled card!

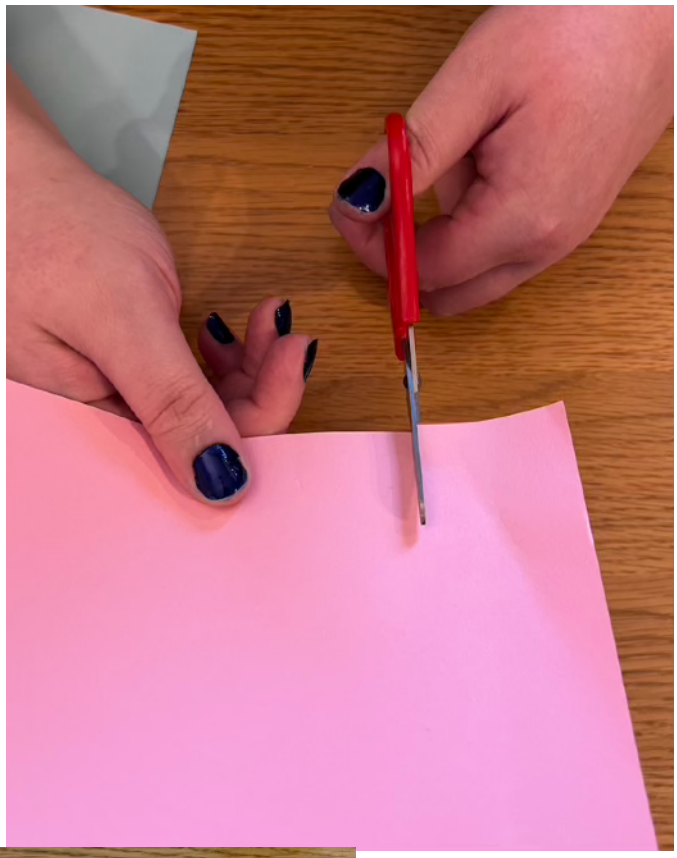

Tools and Materials:

- Coloured Paper
- Pencil
- Sellotape
- Scissor

To make your paper chain cut strips, we cut down the short side. If you put all the pieces of paper together (not the blue thats for the card) then you get the strips faster! Save one of each colour for later for your card

Because we are using 4 colours we are keeping 2 solid colour and the other 2 with hearts cut out. Take the 2 colours you want hearts in and fold in half long ways and then draw U shapes to create half hearts as a guide to cut

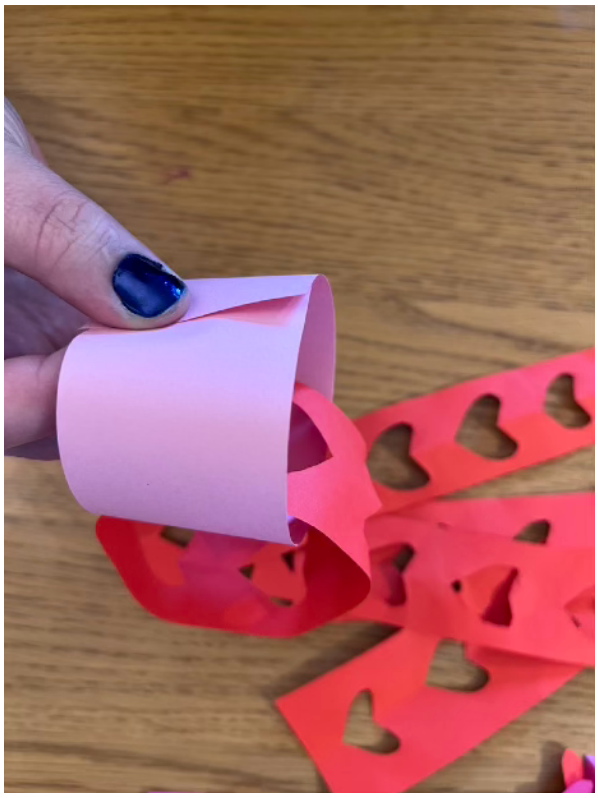

Keep the cut out hearts for later!

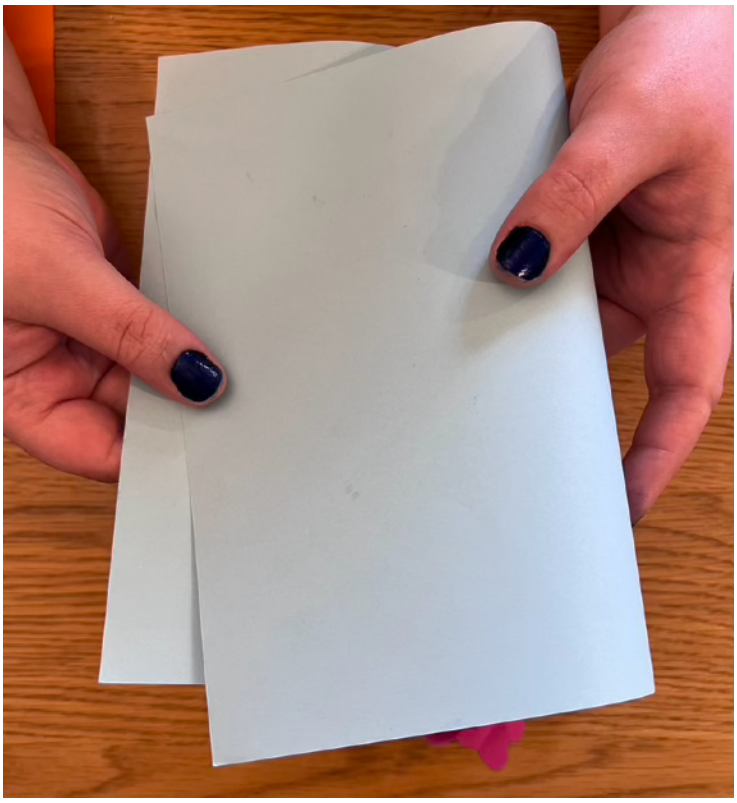

Take one of the strips and fold it around to form a ring, taping it to secure it across one of the ends to the body of the ring like so, then add another strip through and repeat the process. We alternated between solid and cut out strips

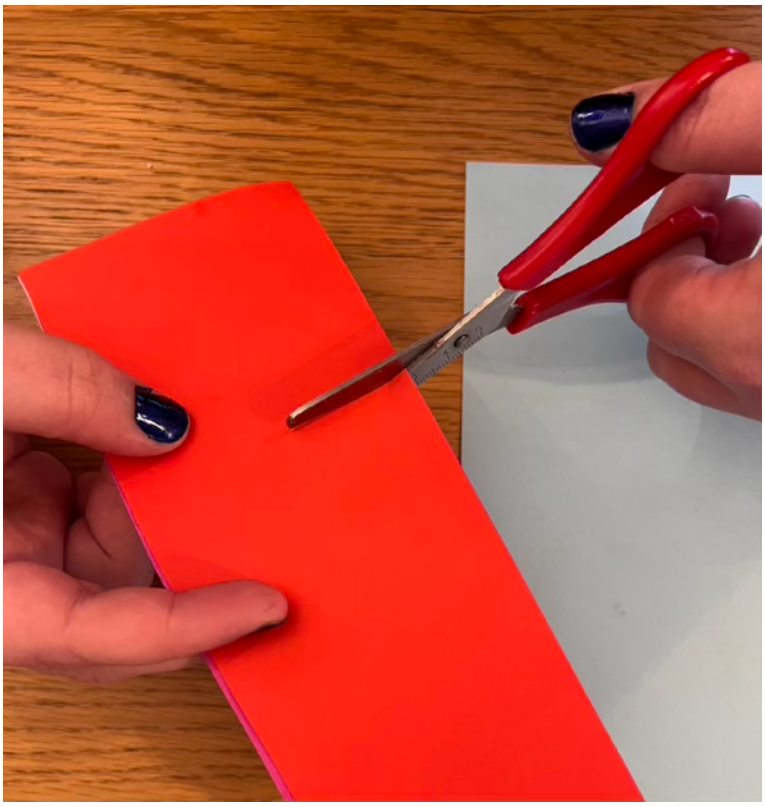

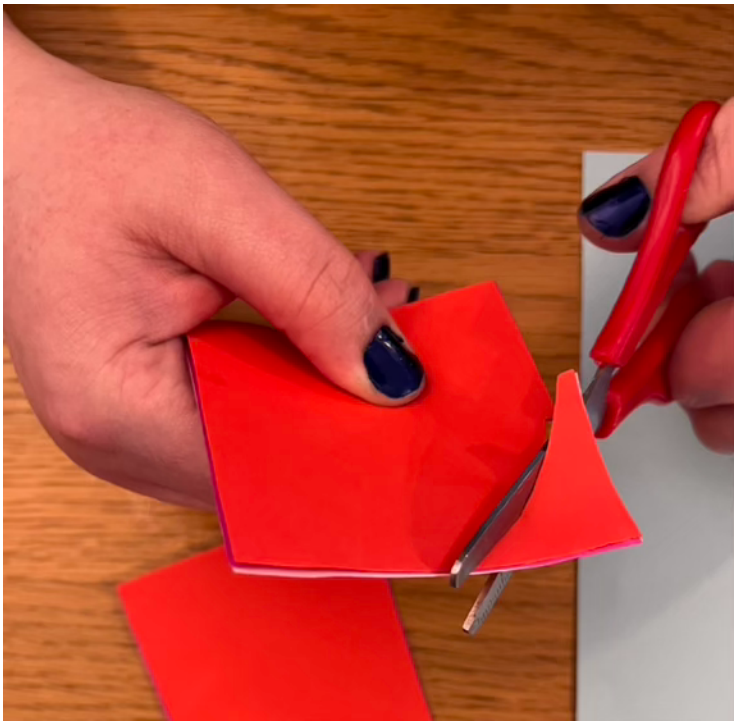

Now to make your card, take your paper and fold it in half to form the card base then take the strips and cut a square, to draw a circle. We want to make like “love heart” sweets with messages inside for the front of the card

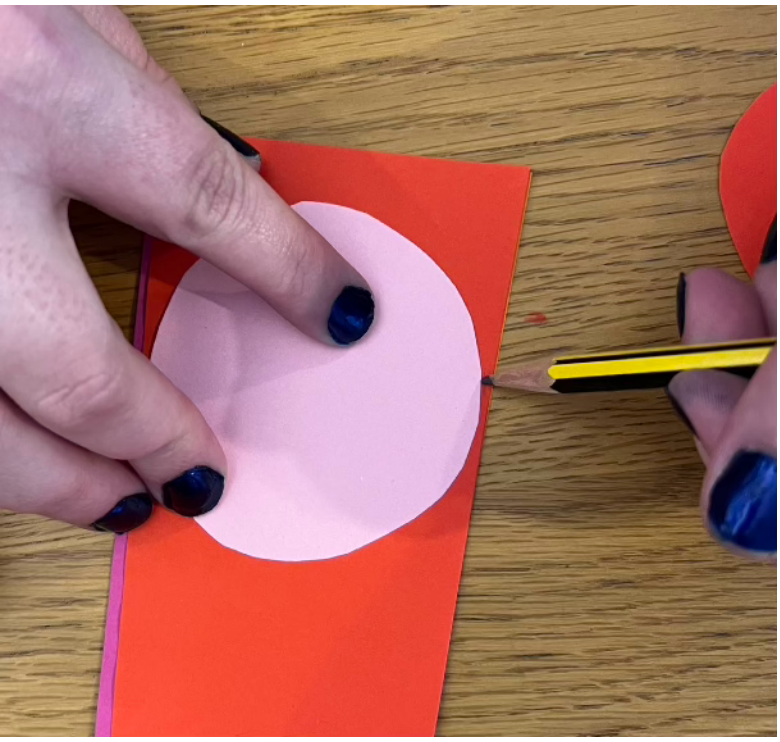

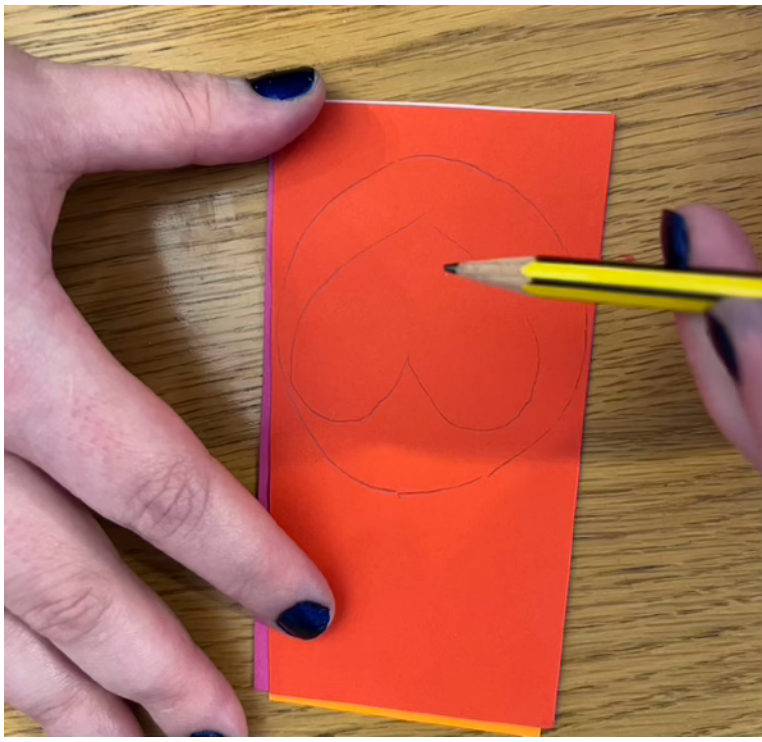

Using one of the circles as a guide sketch round it on your leftover paper so you know what size to make the hearts

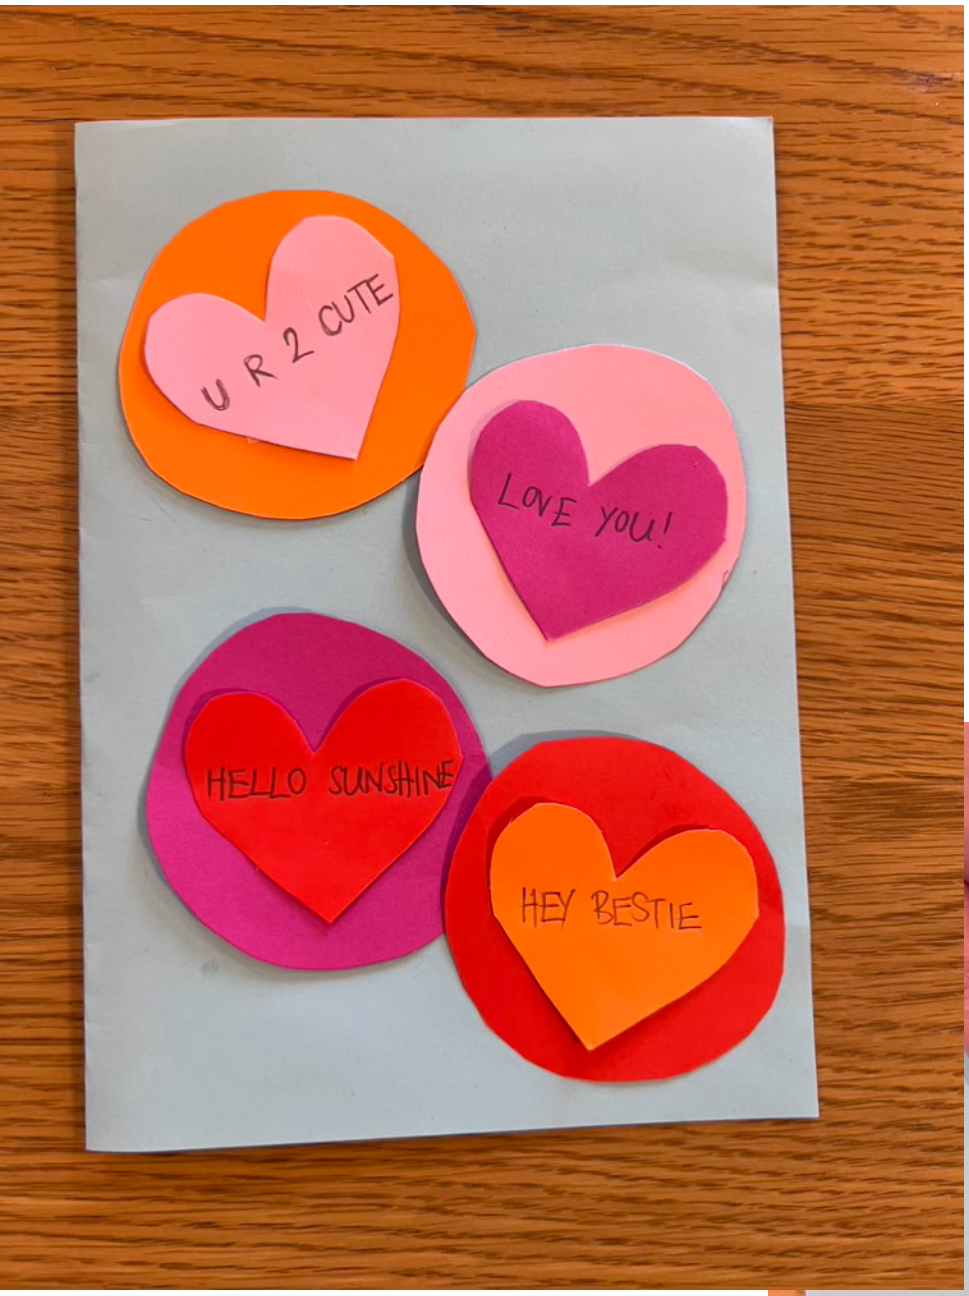

Cut them out and then using sellotape folded over on itself attach the hearts to the circles like so, repeat for the circles to to card. The sellotape makes it look a bit 3D

Write your messages on the love hearts, and then add your message in the card for whoever you would like to give it to, then as a finishing touch you can add the heart confetti (cut outs from the paper chains!)

There you have it your very own
“Valentine’s Paper Chain and Confetti Card”!
