

Picasso: Blue Period

Picasso is a very famous artist mainly for Cubism however he also had a Blue and Rose period where everything was painted in those colours - why not create your own “Blue Period” inspired work

Tools and Materials:

- Paper (watercolour paper if you have it but thicker paper works too)
- Pencil
- Watercolours
- Paintbrushes
- Water

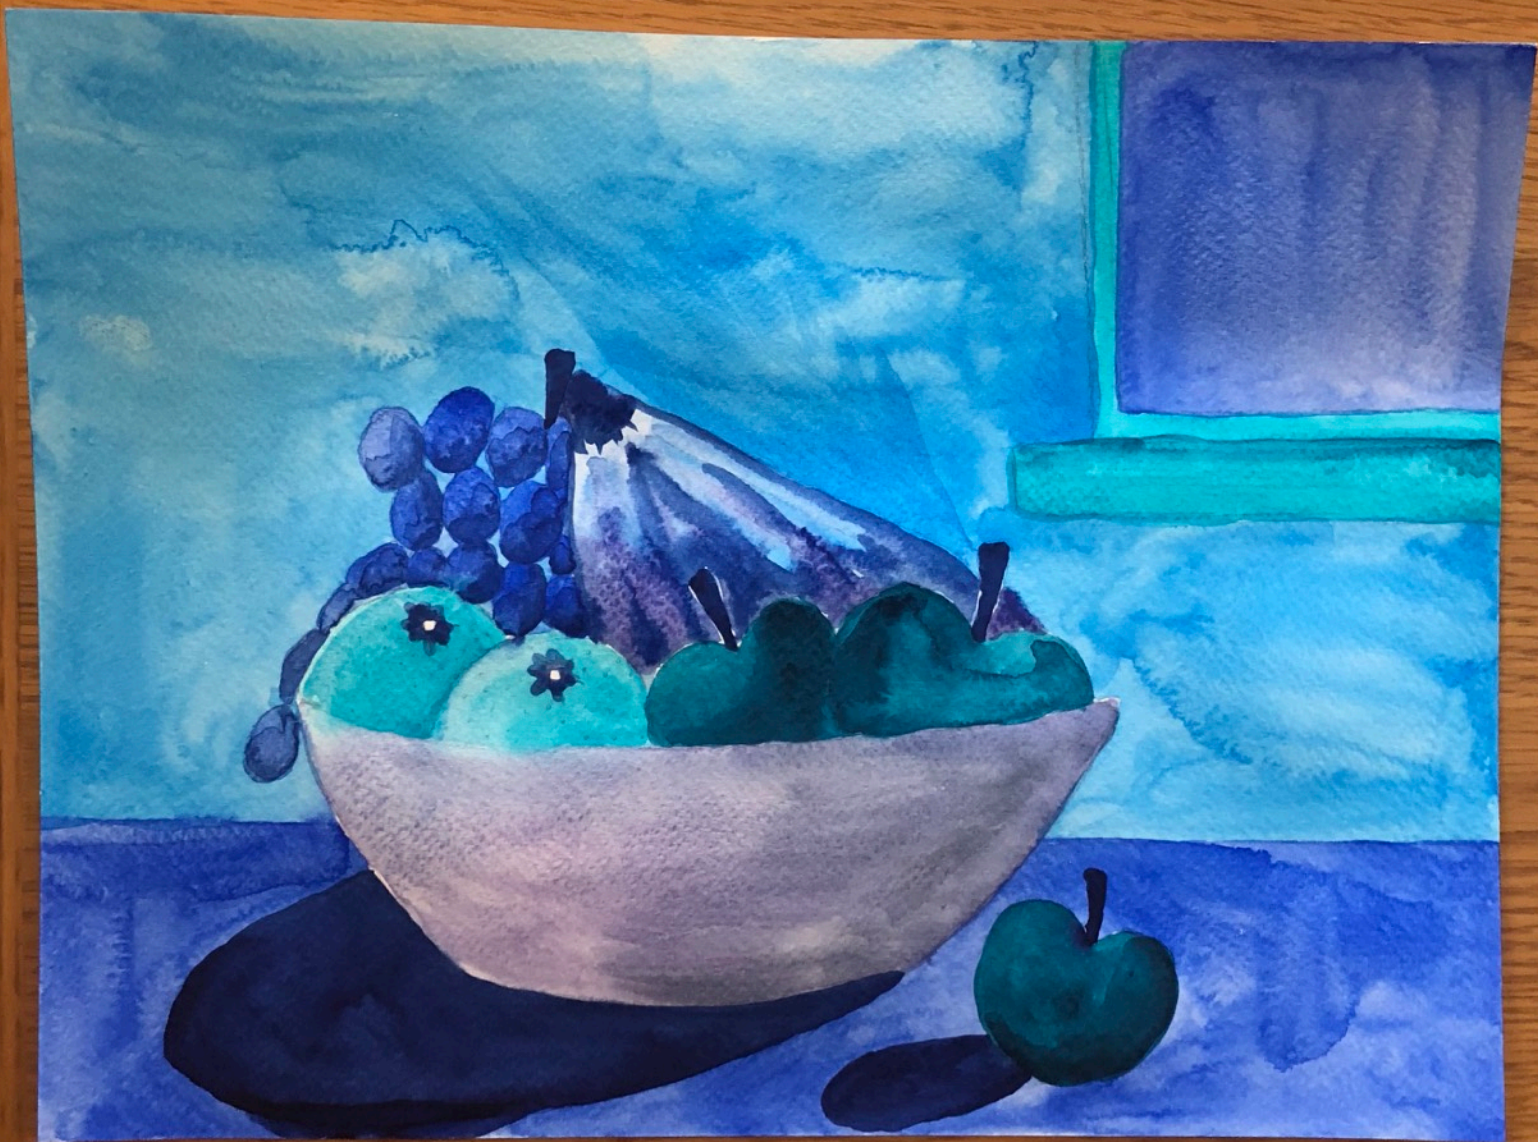

So first of all think what you want to draw - you can draw absolutely anything the only restraint is painting what you create in different shades of blue! We thought it would be fun to draw a fruit bowl.

When you are happy with your drawing you can start to paint it - the reason we chose to use watercolour is it is a great medium to be able to create many different colours easily! When we say Blue Period you can also have blue/green, blue/grey etc so play around with the palette to create new shades for your work!

There you have it your own Blue Period inspired work!

Here is another we created to inspire you!
