Blow and Fold Over Paintings

This is a great project for younger kids or if you just fancy trying to make something a bit surreal as the possibilities are endless of what you could make

Tools & Materials:

- Paint
- Paintbrush
- Paper
- Drinks Straw
- Felt Tip

This is your kit for both Blow and Fold Over paintings

We will start with Fold Over paintings as you need the paint thick for this, get your paper and fold it in half

Start marking out your design in the paint, we are doing a spotty butterfly, you only need to pain on one side of the paper like so, you want the paint quite thick so it will work

Once you are happy with your design you can fold the paper over to create the finished image

Once you have folded it over, smooth you palm over the paper to make sure all the paint touches the other side of paper, then you can peel the paper back

You should end up with something like this, if the paint isn't as thick as you had wanted you can always add more and refold it

So whilst your Fold Over painting is drying you can start your blow painting, take your paint and add water to it to make it nice a runny, the runnier the better but play around with consistency to find what suits you

Add some drops of paint to you paper with the paint brush

Then you can begin to blow them in different directions to make shapes

You can add more colours to change the picture, look at the shapes the blowing is making and think what it looks like

You can always add more paint to transform it into the image you want, we thought a desert/beach scene would be fun

Once your painting is dry you can add some detailing

With a black felt tip we transformed our butterfly from earlier

And added details to our desert scene

Here are some other Blow and Fold Over paintings to give you some inspiration
