

Summer Stage

Taking inspiration from your favourite Summer Holiday memories - why not create a freestanding diorama of your fave highlights!

Tools and Materials:

- Paper (3 sheets)
- Black Felt Tip
- Sellotape
- Scissors

To create your freestanding diorama you need to create the sides to support it - all your sheets of paper need to be cut in half to make them the right size. One piece of paper creates the 2 sides the other 2 bits of paper 4 stages of the diorama. Fold one of your pieces of paper in half and use the fold as a guide to cut all your pieces of paper in half

Taking one of the halves of paper fold that in half and then fold it roughly into thirds - this is to create the sides

When you unfold it this should create 6 sections - repeat with the other piece of paper so you have 2 of them

So now to create the drawings for the diorama - the drawing at the back will use a whole half sheet of paper. We had a fab day trip to Brighton so wanted to capture that!

Now to create the first picture of the diorama - to frame it so we wanted to add what it is and some symbols relating to it to title it almost like photo album

When you are happy with it you can cut out the middle - its easier if you bend the paper in half and make a cut in the middle to be able to cut it out more easily like so

If you want to add in any more details now is a good time to do so before you stick it all together

The other drawings will also have bits cut away so you can see through them - because of the Brighton theme we thought a rollercoaster from the pier would be fun!

Do your other drawing and cut them all out to be ready to stick them together!

So now to put the diorama together taking your side pieces and the back drawing make sure the sides are both facing in and lie the drawing on top and sellotape it around like so

Take your next level and stick it on the next flat bit of the folded sides facing you

Repeat with the next layer like so

Then to add on the front - putting it on the front and fold the sellotape around the back to secure it

If there any bits of the side visible like in ours you can always trim it after is been stuck down

There you have it your very own "Summer Stage"!
